

ReviewOnline Transition to DSM-5 October 1, 2014

We will be making a few updates to ReviewOnline to support the transition to DSM-5 on October 1, 2014.

3 things you need to know:

- 1 The member's diagnosis will need to be re-entered for cases where treatment began prior to October 1, 2014 and continues beyond that date. The re-entry of the diagnosis is only required for the first review that occurs on or after October 1, 2014.
- 2 Use the "Search" function to select the correct diagnosis as some ICD-9 codes map to multiple diagnoses in the DSM-5. To search for a diagnosis, enter any part of the ICD numeric code or diagnosis key word(s) in the space provided and click "Search". After the red "X" displays, click "Search" again to bring up the search tool. You may also click "Search" without entering any characters into the search field.
- 3 The Diagnosis section of ReviewOnline will be updated to reflect the DSM-5 non-axial system for assessment and documentation. However, the same elements that would have been captured under the 5 axes used with the DSM-IV-TR still need to be assessed and documented.

Diagnosis Tab prior to October 1, 2014	Diagnosis Tab beginning October 1, 2014
Axis I	Primary Diagnosis
Axis II	Secondary Diagnosis
Axis III	Medical Diagnosis
Axis IV	Psychosocial Stressors
Axis V	Functional Impairment – GAF (non-required field)
